

Östling is one of the only electrolytic stencil suppliers that has the option of letting the user create their own short-run stencils quickly and easily through the use of our specially designed stencil cartridges. This stencil cartridge, when placed in the PT9600 and printed on, creates a stencil ready for marking. The stencils are typically for short-run batches or for markings that need to change frequently.